THE BULLETIN:

BY EDWARD H. BRITTON.

EVENING NEWS.

FIRST EDITION.

Monday Afternoon, March 2, '63.

[TELEGRAPHED FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Nashville Destroyed.

SAVANNAH, Feb. 28.

The steamship Nashville in coming up the Ogeechee last night, grounded on a sand-bar above Fort McAllister, and was discovered this morning by the enemy's fleet. An iron clad opened fire across the marsh at the Nashville at 7.30, and continued till 10, when an incendiary shell struck the Nashville, setting her on fire, and she is now a total wreck. The fort fired upon the iron-clad, hitting her three times. Other gunboats from the fleet shelled the fort, doing no damage.

Congressional.

RICHMOND, Feb. 28.

The Senate was not in session to-day.

The House passed resolutions of thanks to J. H. Morgan and command for services preceeding the battle at Murfreesboro.

A resolution to adjourn on the 16th of March was tabled.

Mr. Marksdale introduced a Bill to authorise the suspension of Habeas Corpus, which was tabled and the House went into secret session.

Arrival of Yankee Prisoners.

RICHMOND, Feb. 28.

One hundred and fifty-six Yankee prisoners, captured by Gen. Fitz Lee, near the Rappahanock, arrived here this forenoon..

From Charleston, S. C.

CHARLESTON, March 1.

Two steamers, the Douglass and Ruby arrived here at daylight this morning, bringing Nassau dates to Thursday.

The Douglass was fired at several times by the blockaders, but was not hit.

The steamers Stonewall Jackson and Hero, from Charleston, also the steamer St. Johns, from Savannah had arrived safely at Nassau.

The following prizes were at Key West on Feb. 15.; steamers Adela, Pearl and Virginia; schooners Alicia, By George, Agnes. Francis, Fry Isabella, Courier, Dart, Theresa, Comet, Lilly, Adventure, Camilla, Diona, Rising Dawn, Two Histories, Hernissa, Kate, Maria and Margaret; sloops Chester, Flying Fish, Good Luck, Rochenborough, Avenger, Julia, Ellen, Silas, Henry and Porave.

The Yankee commander at Key West has ordered all persons having friends in the Confederate service to prepare to go to Port Royal, and to be sent thence into the rebel lines. B. R. RIORDEN,

From the North.

RICHMOND, March 1.

The Dispatch has dates from the North of the 23d, which states that G. N. Saunders sailed from Hallifax on the 21st, for Europe. He had Confederate dispatches with him.

The fact that a large number of ambulances were shipped from Cincinnati on the 16th, with orders that they should be at Nashville on the 20th, is taken as indicative of an early engagement of Rosencrantz's army.

The New York Times has a letter from Vicksburg which says that the enemy [Yankees] of Mississippi is being crippled at a fearful rate since it has been at Vicksburg. Over one hundred men have, every day, failed to respond to roll call, and have been carried never to return.

In the Yankee Congress, Powell, of Kentucky, gave notice that he should call for an investigation regarding the disposition of the Convention held at Frankfort.

Gold in New York is quoted at 162¼.

The Canadian brings English dates of the 7th. The Queen in a speech before Parliament with regard to American affairs said she had abstained from taking any steps with a view to inducing a cessation of hostilities, because it had not seemed that any such overtures could be attempted with any probability of success. She, however, viewed with the deepest concern the conflict which still raged, and witnesses with grief the distress which the war inflicted upon portions of her subjects.

The London Times says it is reported that certain parties in Paris had offered a loan to the Confederate Government of five millions sterling, on the basis of cotton at five pence per pound, with the option of exchanging for Confederate Bonds at seventy, being eight per cent. interest, and that the offer had been accepted.

The Liverpool cotton market dull, and prices weak. Consols quoted at 92¾.

The insurrection in Poland is said to be spreading. A sanguinary battle had been fought at Wentgrow, in which the insurgents had been defeated and the town captured by the Russians.

One hundred and twenty sacks of salt, sold at auction the other day in Atlanta, brought sixteen cents per pound—about $8 per bushel.

Reported Capture of the Brooklyn.

The Vicksburg Whig says: "We have information which comes through a well known gentleman from New Orleans, that Gen. Magruder captured the famous Yankee man-of-war Brooklyn, off Galvaston, a short time since. She grounded, and while her crew were in the act of shifting her guns to get her off, Magruder sent out his musquito fleet and boarded her. This news was credited in New Orleans. This is certainly a briliant achievement, and adds additional lustre to the name of J. Bankhead Magruder."

A Strange Story—Seward a Traitor.

In Wendell Phillips' address in Plymouth Church, last week, he made the following distinct charge against Secretary Seward. These were his precise word:

The French Minister, Mercier, that at the bidding of our own Secretary of State and your own Senator, once went to Richmond, within a twelvemonth, and offered to J. P. Benjamin terms at the dictation of the premier, by which they should be admitted back to the Union, bearing the function of the representative of the French Emperor, and the name of Wm H. Seward in his right hand, was, morally speaking, kicked out of his presence. [Several voices, "Good."] There is great hope in that sublime pride in the Southern Confederacy, that it may give us this invaluable element of time which we need.

I don't arraign William H. Sewurd as a traitor, as the Albany Argus charges me with doing. I only say that his idea of the dilemma is totally distinct from that of the President. The President sends to the black man and says, "Help me." Mr. Seward sends to Richmond and says "Help me." A man that does that is not the right pilot with a captain of Abraham Lincoln's aim. [Cries of "no, no."]

The World says of Phillip's lecture:

From our report it will be seen that he speaks in the most contemptuous terms of President Lincoln, and charges that that functionary is of opinion his emancipation proclamation has done more harm than good. Secretary Seward he charges with treason, and Gen. Banks is severely berated for not being more like Butler. In fact he has no hope in anything but the negro, and says so in so many words. He admits that the Conservative reactions is leaving the Radicals in a fearful minority, and warns the latter that they must make use of their remaining days of power to accomplish all their ends.

This address of Phillips is the most violent and treasonable delivered since the war commenced. Boilean's offensive article is as milk and water compared with the strong drink of this furious tirade. It is well for the orator he is an Abolitionist; were he a Democrat he would be in Fort Lafayette before to-day's sun goes down.

By the Governor of North Carolina.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, it has been made to appear to me that the terms of the Proclamation issued by me on the 26th ultimo, for the benefit of those members of our army who are absent from their colors without proper leave, may not have been known to all who might have desired to avail themselves of its merciful provisions in time for them to do so.

Now therefore I, ZEBULON B. VANCE, Governor of the State of North Carolina, do issue this second Proclamation, extending the time limited in the former to the 5th day of March next. All such persons as above referred to, who shall have reported to their several camps by that day, will suffer no punishment for their past delinquinces. To those who shall not have so reported, nothing can be promised except the severest penalties of the military law.

In witness whereof, I, Zebulon B. Vance, Governor, Captain General and Commander-in-Chief, have signed these presents and caused the great Seal of the State to be affixed.

[L. S.]

Done at our city of Raleigh, this 12th day of February, A. D., 1863, and in 87th year of our Independence.

TO MRS. .....

I know that human laws and laws of God
Forbid the mention of my love;
Yet purer adoration never moved
A loyal heart below, or soul above.
I've seen and felt the soul-glance of those eyes,
So darkly, radiantly bright—
Enraptured with their beams I humbly bow
And worship as divinity—their light.
The rich luxuriance of the banded hair,
Shading the roses of thy cheek,
Has lit with burning frenzy every pulse
That vibrates to the love I cannot speak.
Entranc'd as by a spell, I've view'd the grace
Of faultless symmetry of form,
Whose gentle undulations please the eye;
Tickle the fancy and the passions warm.
Oh! who can look on loveliness complete,
And dream not of the rapturous bliss;
The fervid transports of the fond embrace;
The smother'd sigh and the soul-thrilling kiss.

Bold Expressions from a Northern Clergyman.

From the Richmond Dispatch, Feb. 24.]

At a recent meeting of the Democratic Club of Philadelphia, the Rev. C. C. Burr, formerly editor of the New York Daily News, was one of the speakers, and denounced the Administration of Lincoln in the most bitter terms. He said it was a drunken Administration, besotted with its issolation of the Constitution, and had never had one honest pulsation for the good of the country. It was a set of rascals. He had lately been to Washington and his soul was filled with shame when he saw the streets of that city filled with lunatics and persons looking as if they had come from Bedlam or some Free-Love association. The members of the Admistration, the speaker said, were not fit to be bootblacks for his honorable auditors. [Applause.] Abraham Lincoln is a greater traitor than Jefferson Davis. What has Jeff. Davis done? He has merely infringed upon our territorial jurisdiction.

On States rights, Burr discoursed at length. He believed that we would have to come baak to the good old doctrine of State rights to save the Republic, and said that the United States have no rights, and were merely rented on the solid basis of state rights. Suppose that a State should refuse to elect a Senator or a Representative, where would your United States be? Congress is nothing but the representative of the States, and this is the only doctrine that can save us. What we want is pluck.

"No we don't," interrupted a voice. "We want money."

"Yes, sir," continued the speaker. We want muscle. Carry the pluck which you have displayed this evening with you into the street. If you do so, the Provost Marshal of this city will be more afraid of being ridden suddenly on a rail than you will be of any injury which he can do to your constitutional liberties." [Applause, and, in loud tones, "we will, we will."] After the applause had subsided, the speaker said: "When the soul of this Government is dead, I for one care not what becomes of its body." [Applause."] "If a plot which is now proposed should succeed that one of our soldiers should go to Richmond and assassinate Jefferson Davis and bring back his head, he hoped it would be put on Abe Lincoln's shoulders." [Loud and long continued cheering.]

Mr Burr reiterated that Mr. Lincoln was a greater traitor than Jeff Davis, and if his Abolition policy was permitted to go on, he [Mr B.] maintained that Jefferson Davis was fighting for liberties in the North, as well as those of his fellow citizens in the South. Why not stop this war now? Why, my friends, you will ask, "How can we do so without disgrace?"—Why, if you are disgraced now, what will your dishonor amount to six months hence, if you go on making dead men and public debt? If this Abolition programe was to be carried out, and negroes were to be put in our forts as garrison troops, he, as a peace man, thought it would be his time to turn soldier. He contemplated the new compromise line with pleasure. It would run East of New Jersey, and would therefore include that State and Pennsylvania. As for New England, he cared very little whether it came or not. These States might be tolerated in the new Union as a sort of ulcer which could not be taken out until it was perfectly ripe.

The Baltimore American, in commenting on Napoleon's letter to General Forey, says:

"Must we, under the load of a junta of visionary madmen, still imitate the dog in the fable, and grasping at the shadow loose the substance? There is but one of two courses left for the Government to persue, in order to avoid the very worst future consequences of these designs of the French Emperor. It will either be compelled to accept a war with France, whilst the South is still in arms, or by a speedy recognition of the seceded States, and at once defeat the schemes of Napoleon, and put an end to the civil war. We do not know whether this will be considered treason by the powers that be, but in our honest conviction that it is the only course by which, not only this country, but the continent, will be saved from complications with the diplomacy and powers of Europe.

CHARLOTTE.

Monday Morning, March 2, '63.

☞ For Telegraph News see first page.

For Charleston, S. C.

Attention is directed to the movement being made in this community, (as will be seen on reference to the report of the proceedings of a public meeting held on Saturday last, as published in another column,) for the purpose of enlisting our fellow-citizens who may feel disposed to render such assistance as they may be able to give to the civil or military authorities in Charleston, in case that city is attacked by the enemy.

A list for signatures may be found at Dr. Hutchisons Drug Store, the Democrat office and at the Bulletin office, where a few names have been entered. There are a large number who are no doubt able and we hope willing to record their names and hold themselves ready to go when called for. Surely it is not necessary to say more than to refer to this movement.

A Factory Burnt.

The Yadkin Factory, near Gold Hill, we regret to learn, was destroyed by fire, together with all the machinery and stock on hand, on the night of the 27th February. Loss very heavy. Owned by Messrs, Holmes & Co. Fire accidental.

The Northeast and Northwest.

The very intelligent Richmond correspondent of the Knoxville Register adverts to a very obvious difference between the impelling motives of these two sections in the war they are waging against us. We copy his remarks:

"The Northwest has fought to reconstruct a Commercial Union. New England to organize an Abolition Union. The one difficulty is susceptible of adjustment as a matter of business, and of dollars and cents, about which the Northern and Southern vallies of the Mississippi have misconceived each other. The quarrel with New England is not susceptible to any mode of adjustment. It involves transcendentalism in religion and politics. Worse than all this, there is an inherent difference pertaining to the two races of men, which renders conciliation impossible. I want no peace with New England on any terms, nor at any time, but when I know that intelligent Northwestern men have been made the dupes of politicians, when they have misconceived our purposes in this war, when they were led to believe even by our own acts, that we purposed their deprivation of the right of free navigation of the Mississippi, then I am willing to correct these misapprehensions, and open the way to peace.

"But all I wish to impress upon your readers is the fact that we have in this war two classes of enemies. I want no peace with Greely and his adherents, but the conservative States, who have fought for commercial rights, I would have an understanding. The sooner this is effected, the better for the South and the armies of the South."

The Approach to Mobile.

The Mobile correspondent of the Charleston Mercury, in speaking of the defences at Mobile, says:

The only means of approach by land is from the coast, between Mobile Bay and New orleans. The nearest point where a landing could be effected, would be 35 miles from the city. The debarkation would then have to be made upon the bald beach as best they could, in serf boats. I heed not describe to any man of seagoing experience, the difficulty, labor and slowness of such a process. The invading army must, in the first place, consist of 30,000 men at least, to give any hope of success. The mere landing of these men, under ordinary circumstances, would consume five days, and then the difficulty of the job would only be begun. The transportation of such an army, its quartermaster, commissary and ordnance stores, its baggage and artillery, which for a seige must be numerous and heavy, would require 2,000 waggons and 10,000 horses. To land these would consume from 15 to 20 days.

This mere debarkation, therefore of such an army would be a peculiar task, and would consume, in favorable weather, from 20 to 25 days. It would then require five days to reach Mobile, advancing cautiously as invaders in an unknown and hostile country must advance. We have then a knowledge of their arrival, and means of knowing their strength, nearly or quite 30 days before they reach the city. This would give us ample time to draw reinforcements from any point east of the Mississippi in time to receive them. I presume we would give them battle at Dog river, which meanders on the South and West sides of Mobile, from five to fourteen miles distant. It is a deep narrow stream skirted with swamps and heavy thick timber, and crossable only at a few bridges. If unable to check them there, we would give them battle again along our elaborate entrenchments encircling the city. An invading army would here find another 'Torres Vedras.'

☞ The Chattanooga Rebel says: We cannot too strongly urge upon our friends the propriety of planting no more Cotton than is necessary to raise seed for another year. We repeat what we said on a former occasion: "Let every effort be made in every State to secure the greatest amount of food. Let the people go to work now to make clothing. Do not put these things off. Let those learn to spin and weave now who never knew before. The highest compliment that can be paid any young lady, after this war, will be that she spun and wove clothes for her brothers and friends in the army. Let the wealthiest and most accomplished set the example of plain dressing and hard work."

PUBLIC MEETING.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Feb. 28, 1863.

At a meeting of the citizens held at the Court House this day—

Resolutions were adopted appointing the following Committee to accept the names of such persons as desire to offer their services to "the authorities of Charleston," in the approaching conflict, to be employed in such manner as may be thought best, viz:

Hon. J. W. OSBORNE, Dr. JNO. H. GIBSON and ROBT. F. DAVIDSON.

Papers for signatures will be found at the Drug Store of Dr. E. Nye Hutchison and at the Bulletin and Democrat offices.

FROM FREDERICKSBURG.

From the Richmond Examiner.]

FREDERICKSBURG, Feb. 27.

The local news is unimportant. The heavy rain which succeeded the snow storm of Sunday has suspended all military movements—that is to say, terrestrial. The Yankees, however, have recommenced their aeriel reconnoissances, and every morning Professor Lowe may be seen among the clouds.

The flag of truce boat yesterday brought no papers, but your correspondent, after a days' hard riding, obtained from a perfectly credible informant the startling news contained in his special dispatch.

Latest News from the North.

The New York Times of the 23d contains the startling information that the Frankfort Convention was summarily dispersed by the military under the command of Colonel Gilbert, stationed at that post. The delegates had not arrived, but the popular excitement is represented to be extreme.

The insubordination in Banks' army had been increased by the entrance upon duty, at New Orleans, of the first negro regiment. The officers of the white regiments declared that they would neither consort or co-operate with the blacks.

The New Western Gunboat.

Harper's Weekly, for February 7th, contains prints of three of the new Western gunboats, to form part of Commodore Porter's flotilla, with the following descriptions accompanying the pictures.

"INDIANOLA."

The Indianola, Lieutenant Commander George Brown, is a vessel of the following dimensions: length, 170 feet; beam, 60 feet; depth of hold, 7 feet; and will draw, when ready for action, about six feet of water. She is propelled by four independent engines, two attached to the wheels and two to the propellers. She has four high pressure boilers and with this great steaming power it is expected that she will run against the current about thirteen miles an hour. She is covered with two inch rolled plates. She has one stationary turret, with sloping sides. She carries two eleven inch Dahlgren guns in the turret, and several 24-pounder guns in the broadside. She has also a powerful ram, and with her great power she will no doubt prove a very destructive vessel among the rebel craft.

The "rebels," under Major Brent, have already given a good account of the vessel and she will no doubt, in company with the Queen of the West, soon be heard from in a better service.

"CHOCTAW."

The Choctaw is another vessel of the ram class, with a turret on the bow and a few broadside guns at the stern of the vessel. She is more extensively mailed than the Indianola, but in other respects she is not far from being indentical with her."

Yes, and in a short time is expected to join in the indentical same service as her predecessor.

"LAFAYETTE," or "FORT HENRY."

The Fort Henry is a ram vessel, without a turret, having instead a heavy casemate foward, in which are six 11 inch guns. She has great power and speed. She was built from plans furnished by Commodoro W. D. Porter, United States Navy, and was known as the Fort Henry.

The above three, with the Confederate steamers Queen of the West and Webb, would make quite a formidable flotilla in the defence of the Mississippi.

Arrival off the Bar.

The British steam sloop-of-war Desperate from Bermuda, touched off the Bar and communicated with Fort Sumter Friday morning. A boats crew of officers and men came up to the city bringing dispatches for H. P. Walker, Esq., Acting British Consul, and the news of the safe arrival of Robert Bunch, Esq., at Bermuda, after a long but pleasant passage.

The officers who came up to the city paid a friendly visit to the gunboat Chicora, and dined on board.

We learn from a most reliable source that the officers on board the United States man-of-war New Ironsides, in a conversation with the officers of the Desperate, admitted that three of their vessels were missing since the late attack of our iron clads, and that one a large propeller, had certainly been sunk. This news accords with our already expressed belief that the first accounts of the fight given by the blockaders were not to be relied upon. It is also somewhat remarkable that although we have news from the North up to the 24th inst, so far no mention has yet been made in Northern journals of the arrival at any port of the steamer Mercedita. The fight took place, it will be remembered, on the 31st of January, nearly a month ago. We remain, therefore, firm in our belief that the first statesments of the blockaders, in reference to the result of the attack by the Palmetto State and Chicora, were wilfully false, and got up for foreign effect.—Charleston Courier.

GOOD EXAMPLES.—Several young men of Knoxville and vicinity, who had exemptions, have lately abandoned their occupations on the peace establishment and joined the army. This example is worthy of imitation. The interest of our cause and the country imperiously demand that the ranks of our army should be filled up immediately. There never has been a time in the war when the vigilance and energy of the enrolling and recruiting officers were more necessary to our success.

PROCLAMATION BY THE PRESIDENT.

It is meet that, as a people who acknowledge the supremacy of the living God, we should be ever mindful of our dependence on Him; should remember that to Him alone can we trust for our deliverance; that to Him is due devout thankfulness for the signal mercies bestowed on us, and that by prayer alone can we hope to secure the continued manifestation of that protecting care which has hitherto shielded us in the midst of trials and dangers.

In obedience to His precepts, we have from time to time been gathered together with prayers and thanksgiving, and He has been gratiously pleased to hear our supplications, and to grant abundant exhibitions of His favor to our armies and our people. Through many conflicts we have now attained a place among the nations which commands their respect; and to the enemies who encompass us around and seek our destruction, the Lord of Hosts has again taught the lesson of His inspired word; that the battle is not to the strong, but to whomsoever He willeth to exalt.

Again our enemy, with loud boasting of the power of their armed men and mailed ships, threaten us with subjugation, and with evil machinations seek, even in our own homes and at our own firesides, to pervert our men-servants and our maid-servants into accomplices of their wicked designs.

Under these circumstances it is my privilege to invite you once more to meet together and to prostrate yourselves in humble supplication to Him who has been our constant and never failing support in the past, and to whose protection and guidance we trust for the future.

To this end I, Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederate States of America, do issue this, my proclamation, setting apart Friday, the twenty-seventh day of March as a day of fasting, humiliation and prayer, and I do invite the people of the said States to repair on that day to their usual places of public worship, and to join in prayer to Almighty God that He will continue His merciful protection over our cause, that He will scatter our enemies and set at naught their evil designs, and that He will graciously restore to our beloved country the blessings of peace and security.

In faith whereof I have hereunto set my hand at the city of Richmond on the 27th day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three. JEFFERSON DAVIS.

By the President,
J. P. BENJAMIN, Secretary of State.

☞ Let every man, woman and child at home, says our contemporary of the Mobile Register, "with a yard square of ground, scratch it and put it in corn. Every grain carefully entrusted to the fruitful earth is a mite of contribution to the Nation's liberty. Every acre of Cotton planted, is a comfort to our enemies, and a nail in the coffin of Confederate independence."

☞ If our friends in the West continue their naval efforts, it will be well for Vicksburg to allow passage occasionally to Yankee ships. Cannot the experiment so successfully tried at Galveston on the Mississippi, and in Stono River, be repeated?

then on hand. These trees are of the best quality, but are too large to be kept over until another season, and must be sold at some price. I have been selling at old prices, being desirous of working off the stock. This conclusion has not been arrived at from the high price every thing is now selling at, but from the fact that no one can carry on the Nursery business at our old prices without losing money. PROSPECTUS OF THE CHARLESTON MERCURY

A POLITICAL, COMMERCIAL, AND LITERARY NEWSPAPER

PUBLISHED DAILY AND TRI-WEEKLY

THE MERCURY gives daily reports of the Market and Marine Intelligence in Charleston, and of Charleston commerce in the leading seaports of the world. The Weekly Prices Current is made up with much care, and from the most reliable sources. Its connection with the "Associated Press" insures the latest intelligence by Telegraph and the earliest news by Steamers from Europe. It has an able and accomplished Correspondent in London (a gentleman connected with the editorial staff of the London Times,) and regular Correspondents in New York, Washington, Key West and Havana. The monthly New-York Fashion Letters and weekly letters on Life in Washington are additional attractions in favor of its lady readers. Its literary notices, from the pen of a gentleman who occupies perhaps the highest position among the literary men of the South, are discriminating and comprehensive.—Attention is paid to all matters of general concern, especially those in reference to the Planting and Agricultural interest, and to the current news of the day. Great care is taken that nothing shall appear in its columns which should be excluded from the family circle.

The political creed of the MERCURY consists in the principles of the Democratic Party, as laid down in the Virginia and Kentucky Resolutions of 1798 and 1799—the Sovereignty of the States; a strict construction of the Federal Constitution by the General Government, the agent of the States; Free Trade, and an economical Administration of the Government. Its policy is the Union of the Southern States in maintaining their rights.

Terms—Payable in Advance.

DAILY, per annum.....$10.0
TRI-WEEKLY.....5.00

Clubs will be Furnished as follows:

Five Copies of the DAILY for.....$40.00
Five Copies of the TRI-WEEKLY.....20.00

The name of no person out of Charleston will be entered on our books, unless the payment of the subscription be made in advance. Nor will orders from without the city to publish Advertisements, Marriage Notices, or Obituaries, be attended to, unless the cash, or an acceptable City reference, accompany the order. Money may always be forwarded at our risk in registered letters.

POSTMASTERS are authorized to act as our Agents in obtaining subscribers and forwarding the money; and by sending us Five DAILY subscribers, with $50 enclosed—or Five TRI-WEEKLY subscribers, with $25 enclosed, will be entitled to an extra copy; or if preferred, they may retain Twenty per cent. of the pre-payments, for their trouble and in lieu of the extra paper.

Out of South Carolina, no person whatever is authorized to collect debts already due to the MERCURY.

In the State Mr. SAMUEL E. BURGESS is our regular Agent to make collections and procure new business and subscriptions.

In Charleston, Mr. JAMES D. BURGE, connected with the office, is our regular authorized collector who has full power to receipt for money now due the paper and to contract for future business.

Subscribers and others, in debt to us, are urgently requested to send in our dues by mail at the earliest period. By so doing, they will save us twenty per cent. an amount equivalent to a principal portion of the profits.

☞ Editors in the State and throughout the South, who receive our TRI-WEEKLY for their WEEKLY, are respectfully requested to compensate us for the difference in value by inserting this Prospectus. R. B. RHETT, JR.

PROSPECTUS OF THE STATE JOURNAL.

HAVING become the proprietor of the Democratic Press, I have merged that paper into the STATE JOURNAL, which will be published Semi-Weekly and Weekly.

The STATE JOURNAL will advocate Democratic principles in the broadest sense, and will support and defend Democratic measures and their advocates as they are presented, and as occasion may require. In other essentials it will be my aim to make the paper, what its name denotes, a State Journal—eschewing all sectional considerations and working for the entire State and her common interests.

As soon as arrangements can be made, the whole paper shall be re-modeled and printed with new type, on good paper, and in a superior manner.

The Editorial department will be properly attended to in its various branches, and will speak for itself. Neither labor nor expense will be spared in the management of the paper.

The terms of the State Journal will be as follows:

Semi-Weekly, per annum.....$4.00
Weekly.....2.00

These terms will be insisted upon unavariably in advance. No name will be put upon the list without the money, and all papers will be discontinued at the expiration of the time for which they have been paid, unless the subscription be renewed. I am entirely free from means of support, and that upon no other footing can any newspaper hope to succeed.

Advertisements of a proper character will be inserted at the following rates:

One square, first insertion.....$1.00
Each subsequent insertion.....50 cents.

A liberal deduction on these rates for yearly advertisers in the Semi-Weekly. In the Weekly will be the full rates with no deduction.

JOHN SPELLMAN,
Nov. 24, 1862. Editor and Proprietor.
